TO THE WORLD!

Can we for a moment look upon our wide-spread and, and behold the fearful amount of suffering and disease that there exists, without a feeling of pain-ul sympathy arising in our hearts accompanied with the desire of bestowing relief if we posse-sed the power? No, we cannot; the human heart goes forth to meet its fellow, and extends to him the hand of sympathy, if nothing more. This may soothe, but it will not cure. He still feels himself an object that is loathed, -he still feels himself a cripple; the anguish still lingers around his pillow. Those at all familiar with the history of diseases cannot help being struck with the rapid increase of that peculiar range of diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, or habit of the system:-diseases of the mucus tissue; also of the sseous and glandular system, scrofula, cancerous ulcers and obstinate cutaneous eruptions, chronic sore eyes, and disease of the bones. The chief cause of their increase is owing to their being hereditary, running through whole families and preading destruction along their path. But for Il these ills there has a new medicine dawned ipon the world; and in offering to the public this ew preparation, which has for its object the re-ief of suffering humanity, it becomes necessary to state upon what grounds it puts forth its merits and the reasons upon which it founds its superior claims to the attention of the afflicted, that ill who in its restorative virtues. But let us introduce our tender more particularly to this new preparation, which has already been announced to the public under the name of SANDS'S SARSAPARILLA.

This medicine is the result of years devoted to laborious chemical experiments in testing various modes of preparation, enabling them to concentrate in the most efficient form all the medicinal value of the true Sarsaparilla; and they have at last accomplished this most desirable result by means of an entirely new, ingenious and costly apparatus. The process throughout is governed y strictly chemical laws, so that the essential principles, or the principle on which the restora-rive virtue of the Sarsaparilla depends, is entirely preserved. This is then combined with other arti-all of which are the most powerful purifiers of the blood, which are then concentrated into a fluid ex-the important power of immediately arresting the progress of disease and restoring the patient to perfect health. Therefore, those suffering from disease arising from an impure state of the blood or habit of the system, such as obstinate cutaneous eruptions, rheumatism, chronic sore eyes, or diseases arising from an injudicious use of this preparation, which has all combined that can be useful in the removal of their complaints.

Combined with the other advantages which the oreparation possesses, the proprietors have reaped he experience of a scientific gentleman who resided many years in that country which produces the best, in fact the only true, species of Sarsaparilla. The proprietors, during the many years they have been engaged in preparing it, have tried undreds of experiments upon the human system, and have had the pleasure of witnessing its happy results in numerous instances; and they were de-ermined not to offer it to the world until they had become thoroughly convinced of its efficacy. They have now succeeded in preparing a medicine whose restorative virtues are without a parallel in the nials of cures of the most difficult kinds of disease

This medicine has been prepared for the benefit of all suffering mankind, both rich and poor, and to the indigent poor it will be given without money the Alderman of their Ward. And now let the ent virtues the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed and the afflicted are healed, bear witness of its merits. Let it stand or fall by its own inherent virtues. What it has done once it will do again, and by its use the world will be relieved of a vast amount of suffering and disease. The proprietors have made arrangements for spreading it throughout the whole United States. That all may have it within their reach it is also their intention to introduce it into the hospitals, into the alms-houses, and into all the public institutions, wherever completened reason may be inclined to receive it, which have for their object the sufferr's relief. And to the American public the proprietors would say, let that medicine which is destined to bring health and healing on its wings to its thousands and its tens of thousands, receive your favorable consideration-let all philanthropists sustain an article which has for its object relief to both rich and poor. As long as the medicine produces the desired result for which it is administered, and this has been proved again and again-is it not sufficient to all to administer it n cases where its benign influence may shed relief and happiness around the pillew of suffering

The following cure, at once so remarkable, so extraordinary as almost to surpass belief, has, in order to place its truth beyond the reach of suspicion or doubt, been sworn to, this 26th day of August, 1842, before his Hon Robert H. Merris,

NEW.YORK, August 23, 1842.

Gentlemen.—A tale of misery and woe is mine to tell, and as memory ever constant in the task brings back scenes that have past, I shudder at the picture and almost wonder if it is so. For months stretcked upon a bed of suffering and distance, racked by the most avariation.

is so. For months stretched upon a bed of suffering and distress, racked by the most exeruciating pain, dumb with agony—the only voice that came from my lips the voice of greaning, and my only hope despair. Often and often while others slept in the still hours of night, I have turned my face to the wall and wished to die.

Although I stood on the brink of eternity and the thread of life was nearly severed, yet I still breathed on, the lamp held out to burn; I little thought it would be ever trimmed again, and only boped that death would swallow up the flame. My sickness was first brought on by my imprudently exposing myself to a strong current of air while over-heatted, which caused a sudden check of perspiration. My complaint at first seemed light and hardly worth while to call a physician; but I soon began to grow worse, and a physician was called, who prescribed some pills containing a powerful preparation of mercury, to be followed by sarsaparilla root and lignum vitae made into a tea, which I continued using for several months without intermission. Seen after taking the mercury I began to feel its poisonous influence. My whole glandular system became affected, also the bones, joints and muscles; lumps formed upon the skin nearly as big as an egg accompaned with intense burning nearly as big as an egg accompaned with intense burning heat, which kept swelling until they broke, and discharged matter and blood. These continued to increase until they covered my whole body. But this was only the beginning since while looking in the papers, I chanced to see your Sarsaparilla advertised, accompanied with a certificate from Mr. Burdock, of a most extraordinary cure made by its use. The case in some respects resembled my own, and I found that lingering hope still clung to life. It seemed like a whisper from heaven. The second day after I commenced taking it I felt the pain much easier and went to sieep. I had not slept like this before for months. By the time I had used one bottle, the pain had nearly left, the eruption was also much better. I now felt a strange hope gathering in my breast that I should live! perhaps be cured. No; this could not be. I dared not believe it. I sent and got another bottle, continuing to improve rapidly, and still another, and COLT'S SUBMARINE BATTERY .- This terrible engine of destruction seems to us one of the most marked and important inventions of the present day-and destined to do much towards the prevention of the horrible calamities of war, for just in proportion as national conflicts become more surely sanguinary and exterminating will they become of rare occurrence. By the agency of electricity, it will be remembered, Mr. Colt is able from any distance to explode his instrument under a vessel and thus send the largest ship careering through the upper element, certainly not after the most approved style of seamanship. How he proposes to deposit the battery under the vessel, with the requisite security and secrecy, is the unexplained marvel: we find in a communication to the Journal of Commerce the following suggestion of two ways in which it may be done:

The first is similar to that employed by Fulton for his submarine Torpedo. One or more of these batteries are to be sunk at the Narrows, or any other narrow channel through which a vessel must pass in entering the harbor; if the channel be suf- require its use may fearlessly repose full confidence iciently narrow, one battery will suffice; but if wider, the number must be increased to the number of times the width of the channel exceeds that of the vessel; the wires from them, properly numbered or placed, communicate with the shore, where a watch is to be stationed ready to make the connexion necessary for the explosion the inmunt the vessel has placed herself in the situation to receive it.

The other method that we shall mention, is more certain in its operation, -is susceptible of a wider application, and has the additional recomdation of being more novel in its nature: properly attended to, it cannot fail of complete and triumphant success. It is as follows: A boat is to be constructed upon the principle of the divingbell or otherwise, with the machinery for its propulsion beneath the surface of the water, in any direction. Till very lately, the want of air fit for respiration, would have effectually prevented the are of such a boat, -the great degree of secrecy necessary is all its evolutions forbidding the emplayment of the usual apparatus connected with diving bells for the supply of fresh air from above; but thanks to the discoveries in science that almost daily permit us to class among things easily performed, those that were once thought impossible, the difficulty is now surmounted by the followher simple means, for the discovery of which, the world of science is indebted to Col. Payerne, of London. Two chemical substances are taken down into the boat .- the one, to absorb the carbonic acid gas as fast as generated by the lungsthe other, to give out oxygen gas to supply the place of that consumed. The first of those is found in pure potasso, which readily absorbs half its own weight of carbonic acid gas,-the other, is the sulphate of potassa which, when heated, gives out a very large proportion of pure oxygen. With these two simple bodies, Col. Payerne lately descended in a diving bell to the bed of the Thames. where he remained for the long and hitherto unat tained period of seven hours, cut off from all communication with the upper air, without experiencing any of the unpleasant effects usually history of medicine, which fact is fully substanattendant upon such experiments, to the great tiated by the numerous certificates and testimosurprise of a number of distinguished men of science, who witnessed his performance without the knowledge of his novel application of a couple of well known facts in Chemistry. A boat could thus be constructed for sub-marine navigation,-to and without price, by their bringing a certificate remain under water for any desirable time within of their need from the Pastor, the Magistrate or the limits of twenty-four hours,-to carry the batteries to their several points of destination, -there | testimony of suffering humanity, who are gather to sink them or attach them to the vessel's keel, ing around it thick and fast and by whose inher-matter and 6100d. These continued to increase until they covered my whole body. But this was only the beginning of my afflictions; now commenced those torturing pains termed chronic rheumatism. At times it seemed as if I was stretched upon a rack and all my limbs were being torn from each other; at others as if sharp knives were piercing me at every point. The muscles of my legs seemed tied in knots and were as hard as a hone. My distress was now so great that my groans at night disturbed the whole house and also some of the families in the adjacent buildings. I had not slept a night since the early part of December last; the only sleep I obtained was a few hours during the middle of the day pillowed up in a chair, and the eruption had also fearfully increased. My face was completely covered with an extending sore. I had now shrunk to a mere skeleton—the skin and flesh were so diseased around my thighs that the bones nearly protruded, and the physicians pronounced my case beyond the reach of medicine. Oh how I wished that I might die. From my long and protracted illness we had become much reduced in circumstances. New-York a feeling sense "Messra. Sands—Gentlemen: Under a feeling sense of gratitude inherent to us all when suddenly relieved from suffering and disease, I now, as an act of justice due to you, and with a view of relieving the afflicted, make known to the world the inestimable benefit I have received from the use of your Sarsaparilla. In the year 1832 I sailed from England in a vessel bound for Quebec, and while on the bassage first discovere! the disease which after proved to be a sore affliction; and truly I can say, 'from the crown of my head to the sole of my foot there was no soundness in one.' Prom the time first mentioned down until the pre-sent, a period of more than ten years, I have suffered all hat human nature was capable of bearing. I have been under the care of the most distinguished physicians, both in this country and in Englind, visited Bath. Cheltenham, Bristol and Gioucester, tried various specifics, among others t large quantity of Swaim's Panacea, used sulphur baths, see &c. As a last resort I was induced to wrap myself in a ar dintunent, keep myself sectueled, shunned by all, myself dso shunning. I was induced to believe my case a hope-

The di-case now enveloped my whole body, rendering me phoost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked, and blood and matter ran, and life itself be-came almost a burden. A few weeks since I was induced to use you. Sarsaparilla by hearing it so highly recommenhel, having spent near $3,000 without obtaining but little fellet. After using it a short time I found myself better, and now, by using six or eight bottles, costing me less than but deliars, I am well. Yes, I certify and declare to the world, that after scending near $3,000 in traveling and doctoring, and suffering more than can be told, I was perfectly curred by using your invaluable preparation of Sarsaparilla; and I now recommend it to all similarly afficted. Those wishing to know farther particulars will find me at my residence, No. 27 Warren street, New-York, where I shall be happy to communicate any thing in relation to the above cure.

ITS OWN WORKS PROCLAIM IT .- Let the following mercury, or imprudencies in life, have only to use speak for itself:

"Mesers, Sands: Gentlemen—Owing to you a debt which money cannot pay, I am induced to make a public acknowledgement of the benefit I have derived from your (to me) invaluable preparation of Sarsaparilia. I was sorely affected with a terrible scrolulous disease, hereditary in our family, which commenced on my neck, and, continuing to spread, soon reached my ears, running into my head, and extended all over my face, neck, arms, and lower extremi-ties. I became a disgusting object to look upon. At times my distress was so great that I was unable to sleep or lay down, and the disease extending into my ears, seriously afdown, and the disease extending into my ears, seriously al-sected my hearing. My face was one continuous sore, from which a discharge of matter and water kept constantly ozing out. People avoided me, supposing I had the small pox, or some other infections disease, and I was consequently obliged to relinquish my business. Notwithstanding I had the best medical advice, and tried different plans of treat-ment, the disease to grow worse, until I gave up in despair. Fortunately for me, I chanced to fall in with a lady on board a railroad car while traveling for my health, who informed the that her san was at one time in as had a condition as I me that her son was at one time in as bad a condition as I was, and that by using your Sarsaparilla he was speedily cured. I immediately procured the article and commenced using it, and now, after having used less than six bottles, I am well and able to attend to my business. I send you this the an act of instice only having it may induce the afflicted to make use of the right medicine, and thereby save them much suffering and expense. Those wishing to learn further particulars concerning my case will find me at 207 Greenwich street, where it will afford me great pleasure to communicate anything in relation to the above.

I am, with gratitude, yours, &c.

Sarsapatilla has enjoyed a high reputation in the treatment and cure of diseases for many years, but the value of no other article in the Materia Medica, that at one time held so high a rank, has at others been placed so low: the cause no other article in the Materia attender, that attone table held so high a rank, has at others been placed so low; the cause of which is chiefly owing to the great variation in the manner of its preparation, and want of care in selecting the proper article. A distinguished medical writer who resided many years in the section of country which produces the best quality of Sarsaparilla truly observes, "of six or eight species of the root which I found growing in the woods, I never found but one to manifest to the taste any of the sensible properties of the genuine medical Sarsaparilla, the rest being insipitiand nearly inert." As the medical profession do not act as their own Pharmaceutists, but rely on the skill of the Apothecary for preparing and compounding different formulae, it is a matter of the utmost importance that there should be a torrect standard preparation of Sarsaparilla, on which the 'Faculty' and public generally can rely with implicit confidence; such is the article now offered. It combines the Utile cum Dulce, and in many instances has given speedy relief and made a perfect cure when the patient was apparently inst verging to the grave. The proprietors have devoted many years in experimenting and testing various modes of preparation to enable them to concentrate in the in the most efficient form all the medicinal value of the root, and this most desirable result has been at last triumphantly in the most efficient form all the medicinal value of the root, and this most desirable result has been at last triumphantly accomplished by means of an entirely new, ingenious and costly apparatus. The Sarsaparilla is combined with other articles selected wholly from the vegetable kingdom, all of which are the most powerful purifiers of the blood; and these are concentrated into a fluid extract of great power. The patient therefore who uses this preparation has all combined that can be useful for the removal of his complaint.

The numerous objections to different forms in which Sar saparilla has been heretofore prescribed, are well founded: the quantity of sugar contained in the syrup, will in most instances nauseate and surfeit the stomach, if a sufficient dose be taken to be of any benefit—the decoction and infision being so liable to spoil, combined with the difficulty of dose be taken to be of any benefit—the decoction and infusion being so liable to spoil, combined with the difficulty of preparation, render them both comparatively useless and ineft; bence the superior value and efficacy of the article now under com deration—In addition to the other advantages of this preparation, it will be tou stexceedingly palatable, so that even to a child it may be t saddy administered, and to the most delicate person it may be given, without offending or disagreeing with the stomach.

As the addition of mineral poisons is trequently objected As the addition of mineral poisons is frequently objected to, this preparation is guaranteed entirely free from anything of that nature, leaving it to the judgment of the physician or patient to make such additions, and in such quantities as the case may require. Sanne's Sarsaparilla is adapted to all the various cases where the medicinal virtues of the root are required, and in order to derive the full advantages of the preparation, it is recommended to pay some regard to the diet; avoiding salt food, high seasoned meats, and stimulating drinks, and to keep the bowels regular.
